The following records deal largely with the Way Families, who settled in Marlow and Lempster, New Hampshire.

The Marlow Ways, descendants of Ensign George came about 1770; the Lempster Ways, descendants of his brother, Thomas, came a little later. Old deeds tell many facts about the location of their early homes in New Hampshire and also prove that they dealt quite extensively in real estate and kept in touch with each other for many years.

The earliest facts about the Ways were taken from the research done by Mr. S.M. Fox of Kansas and Mr. Frank M. Hawes of Hartford, Connecticut, genealogists, who made a study of wills, church records, Joshua Hempstead's diary, and other authentic sources in Rhode Island and Connecticut. Later records have been largely gathered from relatives, all of whom I wish to thank.

I am especially grateful to Miss Marie Way Smith (Mrs. Tabor) of Gloucester, Massachusetts, and Miss Ella Weeks of Sandwich, New Hampshire for supplying missing links which enabled me to find many vital records at Concord, New Hampshire.

I certainly appreciate the help of all who sent the long list of Marlow Way Descendants, and the effort of Miss Barney of Claremont, New Hampshire who sent the countless records.

Most of the actual research on these records was accomplished prior to 1930. I have made some effort to collect more recent data, and I have incorporated these facts. It is hoped that through the publication of these records, many interested members of the Way family may be able to trace their ancestry, and also keep records for future generations.

I wish to thank my four children for their assistance in the collection and arrangement of these records. My older daughter, Doris Way Manning Adams, helped a great deal in compiling and typing, and my younger son, Gardner F. Manning, M.D. of Manchester, New Hampshire, arranged for their publication.

About one hundred copies of this book are being distributed to various friends, relatives, and libraries. Additional copies may be obtained, at cost price, by writing to me, or to any one of my four children.

WAY GENEALOGY

The New England Ways trace their ancestry definitely to (1) George Way, the Quaker, of Providence, Rhode Island, who was born in England in 1614. As yet, there is no proof as to the time when he came to America, what locality he came from or who his parents were. Some have thought he was the son of Henry Way, the Puritan, of Dorchester, Massachusetts. If so, it seems strange that the name, Henry, was not perpetuated in the George Way line according to the early custom.

April 19, 1645 (1) George Way was granted a house right in Providence, which was soon after Roger Williams procured the charter for Rhode Island. Then he seemed to disappear from Providence for a few years. About this time a George Way was in Maine with Thomas Purchase, a capitalist, and promoter of Maine colonies, probably his uncle. With him was Thomas Wallen, who had received a grant of land in Providence April 19, 1645.

In 1650 (1) George Way married Elizabeth, born about 1630, who was the step - daughter of John Smith of Boston, Massachusetts, later of New London, Connecticut. Her mother, Johanna, was a famous doctress and nurse. Children:

II. Elizabeth, born in Boston, March 19, 1651.
II. George, born about 1655.
II. Thomas.
II. Alife or Elleph.
II. Agnes.
II. Mehitable.
II. Joanna.

(1)George Way received several grants of land at different times. On February 18, 1661 he was "received into the town," made freeman. In 1662 he was appointed Sergeant and he served almost continuously in that capacity for eighteen years, which shows that he did his bit to protect Providence during King Philip's War, and was a permanent resident.

Sometime before 1670 John and Joanna Smith, the parents of Elizabeth Way, had moved to New London and (II) Mehitable, daughter of George and Elizabeth Way, had gone to live with them and was presented for baptism by her grandfather, John Smith, in 1670 or 1671.

New London records also have these records "George Chappell, son of George Chappell, was married unto (II) Alife Way, October 3, 1676."

"Samuel Harris, son of John Harris of Charlestown, married (II) Agnes, daughter of George Way of Providence, ye 14th May, 1679." Samuel Harris died June 3, 1679, and she evidently married Thomas Pember and had children: III. Mercy, III. Thomas, and III. Elizabeth.

Elizabeth Way probably went to New London with these two daughters, Agnes and Alife, around 1673 and lived near or with her parents, John and Johanna Smith, while (II) Thomas, (II) George, and (II) Joanna evidently stayed with their father. After Providence was burned in 1675 George Way tried to have his wife return to him but she persisted in staying away, so in 1682 he sued to enforce her to return, and the court ordered her to do so under penalty of imprisonment. There is no record of imprisonment so she must have gone back. He died in 1684 and Elizabeth and family were in New London again in 1685.

April 14, 1685, (II) Joanna, her daughter, a militant Rogerene, was ordered whipped with others. She had become the wife of Samuel Fox, and had the following children: III. Isaac. III. Benjamin. III. Elizabeth, baptised June 3, 1677. III. Hannah, baptised December 1, 1678. III. Samuel, baptised April 9, 1682.

(II) George and (II) Thomas married New London wives and many of their descendants are found in this volume.

II. Ensign George, son of George and Elizabeth, born about 1655, married in 1686 (probably Sarah) Neist, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Bodington) Neist.

They lived for a while in New London and three of their children were born there. They moved to Lyme, Connecticut before 1695. Children as verified in his will:

III. George, born about 1687, married July 19, 1714 Lydia Sprague.
III. Sarah, married Benjamin Smith.
III. Joseph, died 1725, unmarried.
III. John, born Lyme July 14, 1698.
III. Thomas, born March 18, 1700, in Lyme.
III. Elizabeth, born in Lyme May 31, 1702, married James Smith.
III. Elleph, born in Lyme July 10, 1704, married in 1728 Samuel Peck, Jr.
III. Mehitable, born in Lyme July 10, 1707, married in 1731 John Ormsby of Norwich, Connecticut.

These deeds give an idea of the situation of his property in New London:

March 16, 1692 or 3. George Way of New London, Connecticut for a valuable consideration, sold to Clement Minor, Jr. and to Nathaniel Chappell, both of New London aforesaid, a parcel of meadow called little owle meadow lying to the northward of Mill Brook — 3 acres as formerly given by the town of New London to James Avery and was sold by Avery to my grandfather Mr. John Smith of New London, deceased, and was conveyed to me by the last will of my grandmother Mrs. Joanna Smith, as by her will on record doth appear.

(New London Land Record, Volume 5, Page 193)

May 28, 1695. Know all men by these presents that I George Way of Lyme, Colonie of Connecticut in New England — by the late will of my grandmother, Joanna Smith, Relict of John Smith of New London, deceased, I was thereby possessed of lands and Doe by these presents for and in consideration of a valuable Some of Money by me received of Samuel Fosdick of New London — convey to said Fosdick a parcel of land on the west side of Newstreete and adjoining sayd street between the lands of Thomas Way and Thomas Crocker, being a lott that my grandfather John Smith aforesaid bought of Andrew Lester — with the addition of 12 acres — which lands below Newstreete called the hopyard— bounded westerly by Newstreete, southerly by land of Brother Thomas Way, easterly by a brook of water, and northerly by land of Thomas Crocker.

Sarah, wife of (II) George, died about 1708. He married second in 1711, Susanna (Talman) widow of Joseph Beckwith and daughter of Peter Talman of Rhode Island.

II. Ensign George Way died in Lyme February 23, 1717, during the great two weeks snowstorm which nearly buried houses in New England. He was kept until March 7, 1717, and finally carried to his grave by twelve men on snowshoes.

III. Thomas, son of George and Susanna, born at Lyme, Connecticut March 18, 1700, married first about 1722, Jane Lee. Children:

VIII. Loretta, daughter of Eunice and Sylvester Burritt, married January 12, 1887, Dr. William W. Williams, born at Waterport, New York October 6, 1853, son of Benjamin and Mariette Barber Williams. Loretta Williams taught school for five years before her marriage and the compilers of this work are indebted to her for her assistance with records in her line of the family. Dr. Williams was fatherless at the age of three years and he with his younger brother gained their education with very little help. He began practicing medicine in Hilton, New York in 1881 and for over thirty years had a very large practice. He broke down at the age of fifty-eight due to the hard work, but lived until he was sixty-six. Children:

IX. Chester B., born in 1891.
IX. Ruth L., born May 12, 1894.
IX. Grace M., born in 1895, died in 1896.

IX. Ruth L., daughter of Loretta and Dr. Williams, married May 30, 1925, Dr. James Vincent Ricci, born in Italy December 26, 1889, son of Anselmen and Adeline Silvester Ricci. Dr. Ricci was brought up in Providence, Rhode Island. They were married in New York City and the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, D.D., minister of the Park Avenue Church, performed the ceremony.

Ruth W. Ricci was graduated from Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, New York and received training as a nurse at the Rochester General, Ithaca City, and the New York Woman's Hospitals. She was instructor of nurses for two years before her marriage at the last named hospital, while studying at Columbia University. She received a degree from Columbia University the year of her marriage and was to continue work towards a medical degree. She is very handy with her pen and dashes off short stories when she finds time.

Dr. Ricci is a graduate of Brown, Harvard, and Columbia Universities and was in active service for three years as a major in the British Army during the World War. He is a surgeon and a member of the teaching staff of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. He is also a brilliant writer.

Dr. and Mrs. Ricci spent the summer of 1927 in Italy studying and visiting in the hospitals of that country. They are both very ambitious. They reside at 158 West 88th Street, New York City.

Myron Knapp was in the United States Navy during a part of the Civil War and was not discharged until some time in 1867 or 1868. He was Assistant Engineer on the Wauchusett, the ship that captured the rebel ship, Florida, off the coast of Brazil. It was an illegal capture. Mr. Knapp was put on board the Florida as First Engineer to bring her to Fortress Monroe where it was decided to sink her. The report was given out that it was an accidental sinking, but really it was done to prevent returning the ship to the Confederate states. This was before 1865. In January, 1865 Mr. Knapp was sent with the Wauchusett to China where he remained for a year or two.

Mr. Knapp died in 1877 in Detroit, Michigan. Theresa Antoinette, his wife, died in 1876. There were no children.

He reported at Commonwealth Pier, and within two weeks was sent by train to Montreal with others and there they took over one of the many "lake boats" which were built on the Great Lakes, loaded, and sent via the St. Lawrence River to France. This particular boat was called the "Lake Damita" and was the fifth lake boat to be sent out. They coaled in Sydney, Nova Scotia and with convoy went directly to Havre, France. Their first break down occurred soon after a submarine had been sighted, and the convoy proceeded without them. They carried a varied cargo, were heavily loaded with heavy wagons lashed to the deck. Their base was Cardiff, Wales and they carried freight to various points on the coast of France. On November 6, 1918 about fifteen miles off Brest, France the Lake Damita struck a mine and sunk in about twenty minutes. Albert was on duty in the engine room and all boats were gone when he got on deck. In jumping he struck the edge of a life boat on his back and was unconscious for some time. All were saved and taken into Brest, some contracted "flu" and pneumonia from exposure and died. The crew were sent overland to Cardiff, with no money, no extra clothing, a terrible looking crew. Albert got the Christmas box his wife sent him, the day before Thanksgiving. He telephoned home for funds from New York two days before Christmas.

Asa dealt largely in cattle and often went to Boston with large droves. He rode a beautiful and very intelligent white horse. In those days people did not use checks but had to carry money. On one occasion he and John Way, 3rd, a young relative, who usually went with him, were returning from Boston each riding horseback and it was quite late when they reached Lempster and separated to go to their respective homes. Asa had not ridden far alone when his horse suddenly stopped and acted strangely. Although it was very dark, Asa could see a rope stretched across the road, so he put spurs to his horse's sides, and he leaped the rope. In the morning it was found that someone had dug his grave and had evidently planned to kill and rob him.

V. Mary, born August 20, 1769.
V. Elizabeth, born January 30, 1771.

Mary, the wife of Ebenezer, died August 20, 1771. Ebenezer married second December 21, 1783, Lydia Darry. Children of Ebenezer and Lydia:

V. Ebenezer, born September 28, 1784. He was with General Harrison at the Battle of Tippecanoe.
V. Thomas, born July 31, 1786.

IV. John, son of Ebenezer and Mary (Stevens, Harris) Way, was born at New London, Connecticut August 22, 1731 which was six months to a day before the birth of George Washington.

He was born and reared on the farm which came into the Way name through the will of his great, great grandmother Joanna Smith, who willed it to her daughter, the widow of George Way before 1695. Her son, Thomas Way, bought and occupied a part of the farm and he gave a part to his son, Ebenezer. This farm was on a hill west of the city.

John became a sea-captain and made many voyages to foreign countries. He married about 1758 or 59, Ann, born 1740, daughter of Jasper and Grace Daniels. Children:

V. Nathaniel, born 1760.
V. Phebe, born 1762.
V. Thomas, born December 9, 1762.
V. John, born 1765 or 66.
V. Benjamin, born October 14, 1767.
V. William
V. Jasper, born May 20, 1772.
V. James, born April 24, 1774.
V. Stephen, born December 5, 1775.

Captain John Way signed the Association Test and was a Minute Man.

After the Revolutionary War was over, he and the younger part of the family moved to New Hampshire to be near the older son and daughter who had preceded them.

He lived first at Marlow, New Hampshire per deed given May 24, 1791.

"Know all men by these Presents that

I, Josiah Gustin of Marlow in ye County of Cheshire, State of New Hampshire ------ for forty pounds lawful money ------ paid by John Way of Marlow--- a certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Marlow---" Thisland extended to Lempster line.

From the following deed given October 8, 1792, he must have taken up land in Lempster, New Hampshire about as early.

"Know all men by these Presents that I, Uzzel Hurd --- for thirty pounds ----- paid by John Way, Jr., --- a certain piece of land off the land which I now live on, beginning at the northeast corner of the land which James Bingham purchased of Captain John Way."

Captain John Way and his wife spent their last years at Lempster, New Hampshire. Several farms and a good many pastures have been carved out of his estate which was in the western part of the town. His house was a one-story wooden house, later known as the Old Red House Place, on the old County Road, now a boulevard.

The house was finally bought by Samuel Way a great grandson of Captain John Way and his father Loren Way lived there until his death. The house is now gone.

Captain John Way and his wife died at Lempster, New Hampshire and are buried in East Lempster Cemetery. Old part.

Following are the inscriptions on their tomb-stones.

moved to Alstead, New Hampshire. Children born in Lempster:

VI. John M., born December 23, 1783.
VI. Nathaniel, born October 8, 1785.
VI. Anna, born January 29, 1788.
VI. Giles, born April 15, 1790, died April 18, 1790.
VI. Benjamin, born December 4, 1791, died January 11, 1792.
VI. Ebenezer, born October 8, 1793.

Nathaniel Way, Sr., died October 24, 1812, and is buried in Old Stone Church Cemetery, East Lyme, Connecticut. The will of Nathaniel Way, signed at Alstead, New Hampshire July 28, 1800, and proved December 23, 1812, gives to wife Waitstill ----; to son John Moore Way ----; to son Nathaniel land in Lempster where son Nathaniel lives; to daughter Anna Way ----; to son Ebenezer Way (when twenty-one) ----.

VI. Nathaniel Way, Jr., son of Nathaniel and Waitstill, married September, 1808, Sally Davis of Alstead and settled in Lempster. Children:

VII. Giles, born 1809.
VII. Leonard, born November 5, 1817.

VII. Leonard, son of Nathaniel and Sally (Davis) Way, married Arethusa Thompson, born June 6, 1820. Children:

VI. Anna, daughter of Nathaniel and Waitstill Way, married Richard Emerson of Alstead, New Hampshire. She was his second wife.

V. Thomas, son of Captain John and Ann (Daniels) Way, born probably December 9, 1762, married at Lyme, Connecticut January 1, 1794, Ruth Perkins, and lived in Lempster, New Hampshire on a farm which joined the farms of his brothers Jasper, and Benjamin. He also owned land in Vermont. In 1808 he sold his real estate and went south being last heard from in Vicksburg, Mississippi. I find no record of any children in New Hampshire.

William, son of Captain John and Ann (Daniels) Way had the reputation of being a man of great strength. I have no further record of him except that he witnessed a deed of land to John Way in Marlow, New Hampshire, in 1789.

In an old diary of John Way, 2nd, appears the name Russel Way as a resident of Lempster, New Hampshire in 1815 and an owner of oxen in 1815. He might have been another son of Captain John Way.

V. Phebe Way, daughter of Captain John and Ann (Daniels) Way, born 1762, married December 3, 1780, Daniel Chappel of Lempster, New Hampshire.

The marriage record gives Lempster as her residence at the time of her marriage hence she must have preceded her parents several years in emigrating to Lempster from New London, Connecticut.

Children born in Lempster:

VI. Daniel, born December 28, 1781.
VI. Ann, born October 6, 1783.
VI. Charles, born November 19, 1785.
VI. Elizabeth, born May 5, 1788.
VI. Mary, born July 8, 1791.
VI. Giles, born October 7, 1793.
VI. Hannah, born January 11, 1796.
VI. Newton, born May 28, 1798.
VI. William, born May 3, 1801.
VI. Walter, born October 10, 1803.

VI. Daniel Chappel, Jr., son of Daniel and Phebe (Way) Chappel, married November 13, 1803 Clarissa Teal, the ceremony being performed by the groom's father, Daniel Chappel.

The writer finds nothing further in regard to the descendants of Daniel and Phebe Chappel.

V. John Way, 2nd, son of Captain John and Ann (Daniels) Way, born in New London, Connecticut in 1765 or 66, married first in Lempster, New Hampshire January 15, 1790 Susannah Booth, born in Lebanon, Connecticut August 5, 1764, daughter of Oliver and Ruth Booth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elias Fisher who preached in Lempster, New Hampshire forty-four years. Children:

VI. William, born December 5, 1790, married Annie Smith of Marlow, N. H.
VI. Olive, born August 12, 1792, died July 27, 1794.
VI. Phoebe, born July 14, 1794, married John Graves of Unity, N. H.
VI. Leonard, born June 29, 1796, married Olive Graves of Unity, N. H.
VI. Betsey, born June 29, 1798, died March 16, 1821.
VI. Lucinda, born June 29, 1800, died August 29, 1841.
VI. Orpha, born December 19, 1803, married Leonard Frost.
VI. John, born December 3, 1805, married Polly Emerson.

Susannah, wife of John Way, 2nd, died February 5, 1816. He married second Nancy Taplin.

Children:

VI. Harriett S., born May 25, 1817, married James Collins. They had a son George Collins, who resided in Massachusetts.
VI. Sarah A., born June 9, 1823, died May 24, 1837.

John Way, 2nd, died May 22, 1849. Nancy, his wife, died April 14, 1861.

John Way, 2nd, when a young boy, saw from his father's barn, the burning of New London, Connecticut by the British. Their place was not burned as it was on a hill outside of the city.

He came to New Hampshire with his father before July 1, 1783 and settled in Lempster, where he built a substantial home with a fine large barn and when it was new the Methodists of Lempster held meetings in it. Later he built a nice set of buildings at the head of Lempster Street, finishing them in the summer of 1823. Being very handy with tools, he made some of hisfurniture, and a cherry desk, inlaid with white wood, a fine specimen of his work, is in existence today, and is in the possession of Dr. Gardner Manning of Manchester, New Hampshire, who is a descendant.

He dealt extensively in land in Lempster and surrounding towns, owned land in several Vermont towns and a large farm in what is now the residential part of Roxbury, Massachusetts. This he swapped for a farm in Lempster.

He was one of the prominent men of Lempster, represented the town in the State Legislature in 1821-24, besides holding other positions of trust and honor.

VII. William Franklin, born January, 1818.
VII. Susan.
VII. Alonzo, born November 10, 1827.

VII. Susan, daughter of William and Annie, married ( ) Greene, and went to the Middle West.

Children:

VIII. Minnie.
VIII. Susie.

VIII. Minnie Greene, daughter of Susan, married William G. Miller. Children:

IX. Ned, married, lives in Evanston, Illinois.
IX. Sadie.

IX. Sadie, daughter of William and Minnie Miller, married David McCarruck, and they live in Evanston, Illinois. They have two children, a son and a daughter.

VIII. Susie, daughter of Susan Greene, married Samuel Sickles, and settled in Evanston, Illinois.

Children:

IX. Arthur, dead.
IX. William, unmarried, now living in California.

VII. Alonzo, son of William and Annie (Smith) Way, born in Lyndonville, Vermont, November 10, 1827. He learned the tailors trade in Claremont, New Hampshire, and afterward went to Haverhill, Massachusetts, where he followed that business for many years and accumulated a large property. He married first Annie Butters of Haverhill, from whom he was divorced. He married second January

1, 1876, Clara A. Yeaton of New Castle, New Hampshire. He died June 10, 1896. Clara, his wife, died January 13, 1926.

VIII. Marion Earle, daughter of Alonzo and Clara (Yeaton) Way, born April 22, 1877, married September 29, 1897, Haris Waldemar Spaulding of Haverhill, Massachusetts, who was born at Oakdale, Massachusetts, June 28, 1871. Children:

IX. Way Spaulding, born at Haverhill July 3, 1898.
IX. Evelyn Harris Spaulding, born March 5, 1900.
IX. Way, son of Harris W. and Marion (Way) Spaulding, married January 2, 1924, Dorothy Leavitt, and they reside in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Children:

X. Evelyn VanKleech Spaulding born July 1, 1926.

IX. Evelyn Harris, daughter of Harris W. and Marion (Way) Spaulding, married January 24, 1925, William Preston Gibson of Washington, D. C., son of the Late Senator Gibson of Louisiana and nephew of the Late Chief Justice White of the Supreme Court. They reside in Paris, France.

IX. Way, son of Harris W. and Marion (Way) Spaulding was two years in World War I doing Ambulance Service with the French Armies. He was severely wounded twice, being in the American Hospital at Neuilly, France, six months at one time. He was decorated by the French with the Croix de Guerre for gallant service and daring under heavy fire.

VI. Phoebe, daughter of John Way 2nd and Susannah (Booth) Way, born July 14, 1794, married February 14, 1827 John Graves of Unity, New Hampshire, born November 14, 1785, son of David and Ruth Graves. As these two families were doubly connected, I will submit the following genealogical facts in regard to the Graves family. David Graves was a descendent of William Graves of Hampton, New Hampshire through John, who married first Deborah Marston and second Elizabeth (—) and had four sons:

David, born in 1742.
John, born January 28, 1744.
William, born August 12, 1746.
Jacob, born November 17, 1755.

David married Ruth (—) and had the following children:

James, born October 25, 1768.
Ruth, born November 1, 1771.
Molly, born May 25, 1774.
John, born September 28, 1779.
Benjamin, born about 1781. Married twice and had twenty one children:
John, born November 14, 1785, married Phoebe Way.
Olive, born about 1795, married Leonard Way.

David Graves died July 25, 1813. Ruth, wife of David, died April 10, 1834.

Children of John and Phoebe Way Graves:

VII. George H., born June 28, 1828, died February 24, 1830.
VII. George " August 12, 1830 " October 18, 1840.
VII. Clark " March 24, 1832 " August 8, 1837.
VII. Rhoda M., " January 13, 1834.
VII. Bela " June 23, 1836.

VII. Rhoda M., daughter of John and Phoebe, born January 13, 1834, married William Willard Shedd, born in Alstead, New Hampshire July 14, 1835. As soon as Mr. Shedd became of age, he left his father's farm and went to Boston, where he remained a short time, and then for another brief time was an attendant at the State Insane Asylum at Taunton, Mass. In October, 1859, he went to Oneida in Knox County, Illinois, and remained there through the winter. On April 12, 1860, he and a friend joined a company of emigrants starting for California and Oregon with ox and horse teams. They crossed the Missouri River on May 6 at Council Bluffs, Iowa, where they laid in their final supplies; there was then not a single house on the opposite side of the river, where the large city of Omaha, Nebraska now stands, and before them lay a vast area almost uninhabited by white men. Proceeding with their ox teams across the present states of Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, and Nevada, they arrived on August 11, at Honey Lake Valley in Northeastern California; during the three months after leaving Council Bluffs, they had seen no white men except the parties traveling the same route westward as themselves. They then continued their journey northwestward, and on September 2, 1860, arrived at Jacksonville, Oregon, four months and twenty days from the time of leaving Knox

County, Illinois, having driven their ox teams about 2,260 miles in this time; averaging about sixteen miles per day. For over four years he drifted about in what is now the states of Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, without much success, and in March, 1865, returned to his father's home in Langdon, New Hampshire, broken down in health. Recovering finally from a long illness, in the autumn of 1866 he went to Weston in McLean County, Illinois, where he bought a tract of land and erected a house. Here he resided nearly thirty years, engaged in farming, and held various township offices. In November 1894 he retired from active work and moved into the nearby town of Fairbury, Illinois, where he died January 30, 1911, aged seventy-six years.

Rhoda M. Graves, daughter of John and Phoebe (Way) Graves and William Willard Shedd, son of William and Abigail (Wallace) Shedd, were married in Unity, New Hampshire January 27, 1868. They at once left for the home he had prepared the previous year in Weston, Illinois. She died in their later residence in Fairbury, Illinois, February 21, 1905.

Children born in Weston, Illinois;

VIII. Herman Graves, born October 19, 1868.

VIII. Dr. John William, born September 14, 1870, is a dentist in Chicago, Illinois. He is a bachelor and resides in Highland Park, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago.

VIII. Dora Gale, born August 8, 1872, married at Fairbury, Illinois, June 15, 1902, George Washington Bennett, born in Lafayette, Indiana, March 18, 1861, son of Anthony and Sarah (Erickson) Bennett. He held various town offices in Fairbury. He died May 10, 1925, and is buried in Graceland Cemetery, Fairbury, Illinois. She is still living there in Fairbury. They have no children.

VIII. Herman Graves Shedd, born in Weston, Illinois, October 19, 1868, succeeded to the homestead there of his father when the latter retired from active work and moved to Fairbury in 1894. He continued on this farm in Weston until 1902 and then moved to Boone, Iowa, where he secured a one hundred sixty acre farm and is still living there, post-office address 210 South Marshall Street, Boone, Iowa.

He married February 28, 1892, Kate Cottingham, born in Trivola, Illinois, July 28, 1869, daughter of John Fisher and Mary J. (Kinney) Cottingham. Kate Cottingham Shedd died April 6, 1922 and was buried in the family lot in Graceland Cemetery, Fairbury, (Yates Township), Illinois. Mr. Shedd has never remarried.

IX. Mary Rhoda, born in Weston (Yates Township) Illinois, December 15, 1892, married in Boone, Iowa, March 6, 1917, Carl Frederick Hanson, born in Soro, Denmark, August 23, 1891, son of Andrew and Marie (Ulrickson) Hanson. He is a farmer, and they reside in Ames (Washington Township), Iowa. Children:

VI. John 3rd and Polly, his wife, went to housekeeping in the house where his father once lived and which his brother Leonard had just vacated, situated in the western part of Lempster, New Hampshire. Before 1833 they moved to the house west of the General Cary place where Marion, VII, was born, then to the General Cary Place, and their declining years were spent in their little cottage at East Lempster, New Hampshire. John and his wife became regular attendants at the Methodist Church in Lempster. There was one time, however, which needs to be recorded, when they started for church on Monday. He was in the habit of leaving his white horse at the home of his son William, who was a storekeeper in the village. He drove up to the door and was somewhat excited to find the week's washing out and the store open.

He kept his almanac, his shaving apparatus, and his father's old leather covered family Bible on a little stand by his favorite window. This Bible he read through eighty-five times.

He enjoyed writing epitaphs, and some of them were quite pointed. He and his nearest neighbor once had a little difficulty over a dog, so he wrote his neighbor's epitaph and sent it to him by mail. It ran thus:

Here lies E. M., the chief of all sinners.
In puppies he took great delight.
He departed this life, left a red-headed wife,
And the smoke has gone out in his pipe.

John Way 3rd died July 22, 1886. The night before, he retired in his usual health, went to sleep, and never awoke. Polly, his wife, died July 5, 1890.

Dear folks at Home.
I now have a small chance of writing to you & I will improve it. Since I wrote you last, which was on the 2nd at Gettysburg, we have been chasing the Rebels as hard as we could. We have drivin them hard as the papers will tell you. We had hard fighting at Gettysburg. Two of our Co. were killed & 9 wounded, two of them had to have their legs amputated. It is uncertain whether we have another battle or not but if I get home safe I will tell you how our Regt. lay under the greatest artillery fire that was ever known on this Continent and how our Regt. and the 13th Charged on a Brigade of rebels and took them all prisnors excepting what we killed, & how we the 16th Captured 2 stands of colors, & Co. E. on stand of them. I must close now for I have a chance to mail this. I am well & all right.

Base Hospital, Fort Riley, Kansas. Here I applied for over seas service, and was sent to the Officers Training Camp at that station for instruction. This consisted of drill, equitation, tent pitching, map drawing, sanitation and hygiene, along with which we received instruction in first aid, and various types of wounds and accidents which were to be seen and treated on the battle field. I entered this camp on the 12th of February, 1918, finished May 3, 1918, having been recommended for the rank of Captain on completion of the course.

I returned to the Base Hospital at Fort Riley, Kansas and was assigned to the Orthopaedic Service, under Major Lord of Omaha, Nebraska. While here I was fortunate enough to be recommended for a special course of instruction in Orthopaedic Surgery and on the 1st. of July, 1918, left Fort Riley for Boston, Massachusetts to attend Harvard Medical School for a period of eight weeks. This course was given by Major Lovett and Rogers, both instructors in the Harvard Medical School. The course dealt with the treatment of fractures, deformities, and war wounds of the bones and joints, the diagnosis of bone diseases and their treatment. It was presumed that this course was to be the final preparation for over sea service, but unfortunately at the close of this course the September draft was coming into the various cantonments and our class, was sent one each to the camps. Here I received orders to Camp Bowie, Texas to assume charge of the Orthopaedic work in the Camp, my station being at the Base Hospital. While here I had charge of the fracture work, and there was no small amount of it, on account of the proximity of the three aviation fields, Barron Field, Carruthers Field, and Taliaferro Field. I reported at this Camp on September 4, 1918 and remained there until March 11, 1919. It was at this Camp that I had the opportunity of observing the epidemic of "Flu", there being 1,260 cases at this camp. I also studied the X-Ray during spare hours.

On March 11, 1919 I was ordered to General Hospital No. 26 at Fort Des Moines, Iowa and was assigned to the Surgical Service. This hospital was a reconstruction and the surgery was all along this line,Amputations, Bone Grafting, Nerve Suturing, and Skin Transplantations. This was, indeed, a very interesting assignment, and I regret not having held this assignment for a longer period of time.

On May 2nd, 1919, I was assigned to the Flying Squadron, which was to travel under orders of the A.G.O. Department of Washington. We were a picked bunch of men whose duty was to visit various camps and aid in the demobilization of men, for example: Every cantonment had a board of officers and men whose function was the examination of troops for discharge. At times the number received was greater than the board was able to handle, such camps were to notify Washington and a board similar to ours was sent there to aid in the work of demobilization.

On May 5, 1919, I reported at Camp Funston, Kansas, and remained there until June 18, 1919, then was ordered to Camp Bowie, Texas, and remained there until July 4, 1919, then to Camp Sherman, Ohio, where I remained on duty till August 11, 1919, when I was fortunate enough to receive my honorable discharge from the service."

War Record of James Laurence Way.

James Laurence Way volunteered June 29th, 1917, enlisting at Omaha, Nebraska, and left that night for Fort Logan, Colorado, where he received a part of his equipment. He enlisted in the old Regular Army. August 4th, 1917, he was transferred to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he received the balance of his equipment, leaving Fort Leavenworth on August 21st for the Kelly Aviation Field, near San Antonio, Texas. Here the 91st Aero Squadron was organized and trained until October 3rd, when it was sent to Mineola Aviation Field, on Long Island, to receive its finishing touches before leaving for France. The 91st Aero Squadron was a "Service Squadron" belonging to the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps of the Regular Army. The squadron sailed for England on the "Adriatic" on October 27th, 1917, sailing by way of Halifax, at which point they were joined by seven other ships, all carrying troops. They landed at Liverpool November 10th and proceeded at once to Southampton, embarking on the steamship "Huntscraft" for Havre, France, where they landed November 13th. The next day they started by rail for Chaumont, where was located the headquarters of the A. E. F., arriving there November 15th.

On December 13th they were transferred to Amanty, where they received their machines, and were organized into the First Army Observation Group, under Major John Reynolds. Their squadron was equipped with Salmson machines, which this government purchased from France. There were no American machines in France at this time which were fit for observation work.

On May 24th, 1918, they were transferred to Gondreville-sur-Moselle, where the work of making observations over the enemy lines, and taking photos of enemy positions kept them too busy to get homesick. On September 12th the big drive started, which wiped out the St. Mihiel sector, the First Army Observation Group doing the observation work for this drive, their machines being in the air almost continuously for three days, directing gun-fire and bringing in information for the use of the headquarters. After the successful termination of the big St. Mihiel drive, the 91st Aero Squadron was transferred to Vavincourt, near Bar-le-Duc, to do observation work for the drive on the Argonne-Meuse front, which was soon to start. The First Army Observation Group arrived at Vavincourt September 22nd and immediately started collecting information for the drive, which began on the 25th. The history of the fighting in the Argonne forest is well known, and I can add little of interest. The 91st had a hot time of it until the signing of the armistice on November 11th.

After the signing of the Armistice, the 91st Aero Squadron was selected to become part of the Observation Group of the Third Army, or Army of Occupation, and on the 21st they started for Germany, making their first stop at Preutin, 25 miles north-west of Metz. This was a former German Aviation Field and Aerdrome.

It was while the squadron was at Preutin that the news was brought that the Distinguished Service Cross had been awarded to 13 of the officers of the squadron, and the Cross of Way, with a Palm, had been awarded to four others. Subsequently the Distinguished Service Cross, was awarded to three more.

On December 2nd the Squadron moved from Preutin to Trier, or Treves, as it is sometimes written, a town on the Moselle about 60 miles from Preutin. Christmas Day was celebrated in Trier, being the second Christmas spent in Europe. On the evening of New Years Day orders came for the 91st to move to Coblenz, at which place the squadron was assigned quarters in old Fort Alexander. Here the squadron stayed until April 16th, when the welcome news arrived that they had been ordered back to the United States. Their first move toward home was to Colombey, then they moved to Le Mans, near Brest, where they stayed for nearly six weeks. Here they were inspected, and reviewed by General Pershing. From Le Mans they were moved to Brest and embarked for the United States on the steamship "Liberator" and landed at New York City June 16th. After a stay of two weeks at an aviation field on Long Island, the squadron was divided up and sent to various demobilization camps. Sergeant James Laurence Way received his discharge from Service July 3, 1919 and was mustered out at Camp Funston, Kansas. Three service stripes bear testimony to over eighteen months service in France and Germany, all of which time was spent on the front. He took part in two major military operations, vis. the St. Mihiel Drive and the Meuse-Argonne Drive. His squadron received a flag from the ladies of Paris and a Citation and medal from the French Government. Each member of the squadron was also presented with a copy of the Citation and a medal.

V. Rufus.
V. Rhoda.
V. Seven more who died young.

Timothy married third Hannah Shepard January 28, 1784. They were both of East Haven, Connecticut. They had the following children:

V. Dorcas, married Nathan Snow November 27, 1808. He died, and she married second Joseph Lancraft of East Haven, Connecticut, December 24, 1812.
V. Elizabeth.
V. Thomas.
V. William.
V. Ame.
V. Infant who died young.

Hannah Shepard Way died, and Timothy married fourth Hannah Fuller, November 25, 1792. His fourth wife died November 26, 1821, aged sixty-five years, she having outlived him.

III. May, son of Thomas and Ann Lester Way, was born May 15, 1702, and baptized May 31, 1702. He was evidently named for the month of May.

He was mentioned in his father's will in 1726 and in distribution of his estate, after the death of Ann Lester Way. In 1745, May Way was in Branford, afterward in East Haven and Woodbury, Connecticut. His will dated at Woodbury, May 14, 1768, proved October 10, 1768, provides for wife Abigail (probably Graves), and children:

IV. Chloe, born in Branford, October 14, 1731, married (—) Wheeler.
IV. Abigail, born November 11, 1735, married March 16, 1758, Crissey. Children:

V. Abijah, born May 25, 1760, died June 1, 1760.
V. Rosel (Roswell or Russell), born June 3, 1761.
V. Mary, born February 5, 1765.

IV. Philemon S., married second Mary Thomas 1795 at Killingby.
IV. May, Jr., born at Branford, May 14, 1736, lived at Waterbury, Connecticut, married Rebecca (—). Children:
V. Solomon, Ebenezer, Justus, Irene, Daniel, and Anne.

May, Jr. was living May 14, 1768 (according to father's will).

IV. Joseph, born November 19, 1742, probably married Philomelia Bradley of New Haven, April 22, 1768. They had son Joab.
IV. Israel, baptized July 15, 1744 at Branford.

III. James, son of Thomas and Ann Lester Way, married Dorcas Luddington in 1722 at East Haven, Connecticut. She was born July 16, 1704. Children:

IV. Mercey, born August 30, 1728.
IV. Hannah, born 1735, died February 9, 1737.
IV. Mary, died September 20, 1742, aged four years.
IV. James, born January 5, 1741.
IV. Timothy.
